The culinary alchemists at Babylonstoren combined Rooibos, cinnamon and ginger to create this unique, yet very South African, version of the Italian ice cream.

Special Pinot Noir wine described as having hints of Rooibos

A new list recently appeared online which noted the 45 best American pinot noir wines to open on special occasions. One wine that featured on the list is the Domaine de la Cote 2020 la Cote Pinot Noir (Sta. Rita Hills).

This wine was described in its tasting notes as containing subtle Rooibos tones! In fact, the publication described the wine as ethereal on the nose, like Grand Cru Burgundy in its elegance, subtlety, and detail. It's bursting with energy, lifted from the glass with the perfume of roses and violets and a hint of lavender, and layered with coriander, red cherries and purple plums, pomegranate seeds, Rooibos, forest floor, blood oranges, and sarsaparilla.

NOOA Launches Rooibos & Honeybush Tea Espresso Capsules

NOOA recently launched their Tatso Superior Green Rooibos and Honeybush Tea Espresso capsules, which work perfectly with a Nespresso machine and are naturally caffeine-free.

Tatso, the Sesotho word for 'taste', is a name which perfectly encapsulates NOOA's Green Rooibos espresso blend.

In addition, NOOA also launched their Lekker Superior Red Rooibos and Honeybush Tea Espresso capsules. One sip and you'll know why they named their Rooibos Espresso 'Lekker' - the Afrikaans word for delicious.

Derived from the exquisite fynbos plants of the Cederberg Mountains, Lekker and Tatso deliver a finely crafted and perfectly indulgent flavor explosion.
